

At Least 103
Persons Die
In Roaring
Hotel Blaze

Atlanta, Dec. 7 (AP)—The pre-dawn fire, starting mysteriously in the upper floors of the downtown Winecoff hotel today, killed at least 103 persons. There were indications the toll among the 285 guests in the hotel would run higher.

Atlanta, Dec. 7 (AP)—A pre-dawn fire which started mysteriously in the upper floors of the downtown Winecoff hotel today turned the 15-story building into a flaming torch and estimates of the dead ranged as high as 100.

Many of the 285 guests in the 194-room hotel located on Atlanta's famed Peachtree street leaped to their deaths from the flaming structure. Others were burned fatally or suffocated.

City Detective J. E. Helms, who made an inspection of the upper structure shortly before the flames were brought under control at 7 a. m., estimated the death toll might reach 100. A city fireman, who declined to be identified, made a similar estimate.

Die of Suffocation
W. H. Rogers, a fireman, told of finding 16 bodies on one upper floor. The rooms in which they were found were undamaged by the flames, and all apparently had died of suffocation. In one room were the bodies of five young girls, in another a woman and three children.

Emergency mortuaries were set up in various parts of the city, and a count of the dead was difficult. The municipal morgue at Grady hospital reported it had 34 bodies and could take no more.

With the flames under control, firemen kept up a steady procession bringing the dead and injured from the building. Bodies from the upper floors were removed via a bridge which was built across an alleyway to an adjoining building.

Many Leap To Death
The Red Cross set up a special disaster staff headquarters for identification of the dead, but an official said obtaining names would be difficult because most of the bodies were in night clothes and many were burned or mutilated beyond recognition.

Police Chief M. A. Hornsby said "at least 25 or 30 persons were killed by leaping from windows."

The fire apparently started between the fourth and sixth floors of the concrete and brick structure about 3:15 a. m. Police Captain L. J. Carroll said he reached the hotel shortly after that hour and upon entering the building found all elevators stalled.

With his partner, N. W. Smith, he said he fought his way by the stairs as far as the seventh floor, kicking out doors and arousing guests. On the seventh floor they found a negro maid badly burned.

Smith told of breaking into one room and finding it ablaze.

"There was a woman inside," he said. "I dragged her out."

"Stark Terror"
From the guests came other stories of the stark terror that swept them when the flames and smoke engulfed the building.

F. A. Herring, the hotel auditor, said he awoke in his room on the third floor at about 3:30 a. m.

"I never saw anything like it," he said. "Bodies were hurtling down past my window. My wife and I covered our heads with blankets and turned on the fans."

Herring said he believed the blaze (Please Turn to Page 7)

BULLETINS

Shanghai, Dec. 7 (AP)—A large Chinese army ammunition dump began blowing up on the outskirts of Shanghai early this afternoon and tonight six hours later, explosions still rocked the area. All personnel of the U. S. Air Transport Command at nearby Kiangwan airfield were evacuated from headquarters and other buildings.

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Great Britain might take to the general assembly floor her fight to establish an inspection board to verify the number of armed troops in the world.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The author of the Hatch "Clean Politics Act" said today his six-year-old attempt to curb excessive campaign spending by law is a failure and should be abandoned. Senator Hatch (D-N. M.), conceded that neither his law nor any other has yet solved the problem.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark and counsel for the United Mine Workers conferred with Chief Justice Vinson today on the government request for immediate Supreme Court review of the John L. Lewis contempt case.

COUPLE TO WED

PRICE THREE CENTS

SURVEY SHOWS
FARM PRICES ARE ROCKETING

The need for dwelling places, outside buyers in search of "farm and security," and the good farm prices of the past few years have caused a tremendous increase in farm prices in Adams county, a survey disclosed today.

As in most other counties in Pennsylvania much of the increase in farm real estate prices in Adams county has occurred since July, 1945, and especially since last December, the check on farm sales prices disclosed.

Leading the list of skyrocketing prices in the county is one farm which sold for $3,400 in July, 1945, was sold again in December, 1945 for $6,500 and was resold once more last July for $8,500.

$10,000 To $19,500
That was the fastest increase in price found among a number of farm prices checked, but while greater than most others was typical of what had been happening to farm prices in the county, according to the survey.

One farm purchased in 1941 for $10,000 was sold recently for $19,500 with the buyer paying in cash.

Most GT's buying farms are finding that prices have increased considerably, have in fact doubled or tripled their price within a few years.

Cites Reasons
One GI who purchased a $6,500 farm and has a mortgage of that amount on the property found that the same farm sold for $2,400 just three years ago.

Another farm that was purchased in 1941 for $2,850 was recently sold for $8,750 with the new buyer having a $5,000 mortgage on the property.

Daniel A. Paddock, farm consultant for The First National bank, who was queried on the results of the check, gave a number of reasons for the increase in farm real estate prices.

"One of their reasons," he said, "is the bidding up of prices by persons coming from other states and from nearby cities such as Baltimore and Washington. Used to a city scale of land price they have made top offers willingly for country farms."

Some Seek Homes
"The bidding up of prices on the part of such persons has been of greater importance in increasing farm prices in Adams county than in many other counties in the state. To this impetus has been added the upward trend already caused by (Continued on Page 2)

Reporter Sickened By Wails
Of Guests Trapped In Blaze

By CHICK HOSCH
Atlanta, Dec. 7 (AP)—I saw four women leap to their deaths from the burning Winecoff hotel in chill pre-dawn darkness today.

I reached the scene of the inferno on famous Peachtree street in less than 45 minutes after the fire was discovered in time to see several women leap to their deaths, and others to mortal injuries.

Flames were shooting from the fourth, fifth and sixth floors and through the smoke and flames dozens of guests could be seen clinging to the ledges or leaning from windows.

Ropes made of sheets and other bed covers hung down the sides of the building. These fragile life lines to safety were buffeted by the winds and streams of water.

I crossed to the hotel entrance, barely reaching the doorway when a woman's body hurtled through the marquee and landed in the street at my feet. One body could be seen draped grotesquely over the ledge of a balcony which the marquee covers.

Calf Killed, Car
Damaged In Mishap

A calf was killed and a 1946 automobile was damaged in a collision on the Harrisburg highway, about three miles north of Gettysburg, Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock. Clyde Bream, Arendtsville, operator of the new Plymouth, was unhurt. Damage to his automobile was estimated at $100.

State police of the Gettysburg detail, who investigated the accident, said that Bream was driving south when the calf, owned by Irvin Grace, Gettysburg R. D. 4, ran in front of the car. The automobile struck the animal and threw it against a truck being driven north by Huber Smith, Jr., Gettysburg R. D. 4. The truck was undamaged.

Similar iron lungs have been used elsewhere and in the armed forces for persons who have drowned, been electrocuted, or were suffering from infantile paralysis or similar diseases or difficulty.

Merle Baumgardner, governor of the Moose lodge, will present the lung to the fire company, while George Bushman, chairman of the 'lung' committee for the firemen will make the speech of acceptance. Archie Maust will be the "patient" for a demonstration of the lung.

WILL APPOINT
COMMITTEE ON HOUSING HERE

Gettysburg will soon have an emergency housing committee to redouble efforts in the community on behalf of securing shelter for the veterans of the community.

Burgess C. A. Heiges said today that the appointment of the committee is to be made in the near future as a result of a telegram received by the burgess today from Maynard M. Small, housing expediter of the Harrisburg district of the National Housing Agency.

In his telegram Small urged the community to do its best in seeking housing for the veterans. Small's telegram also emphasized that the resignation of Wilson W. Wyatt as administrator of the National Housing Agency has in no way altered or changes the policies and regulations of the veterans emergency housing program as enacted through the Patman act passed by the 79th Congress.

Extreme Emergency

"Because of the extreme emergency affecting veterans who are facing a winter season without adequate shelter the true metal of the spirit of your community will be tested in fulfilling your obligations to your veterans" Small said. The committees are requested by Small to "push forward with greater vigor than ever, to resolve the local building material bottleneck, to obtain land and sites and utility installations, to assist in the recruitment and labor for GI housing, to stimulate additional dwelling units through conversion of private homes and other buildings into multiple family dwelling units, to promote the review and modernization of building codes and local ordinances and to secure voluntary compliances with federal building restrictions."

Small pointed out, that "despite the tremendous accomplishment achieved under the program to date there are still many veterans' families in your community who are in desperate need of adequate housing. I am appealing to all the citizens of your community to give a helping hand to your veteran neighbors."

Gresh, pastor of St. James' church, will serve as the liturgist.

Littlestown
SENIORS PLEASE
WITH COMEDY
FRIDAY NIGHT

The senior class of the Littlestown high school presented its annual play to a large audience in the school auditorium Friday evening. This year's presentation was entitled "Bogeyman," a mystery comedy in three acts. A Row-Peterson production, it was under the direction of Mrs. J. Arleen Wingert, head of the English and drama department.

The action of the play took place in the long-abandoned mansion of the late Ezra Dixon. The grandson of the founder of Dixon college and the owner of the old mansion, decided to live there to cut expenses. The Omega Gamma sorority thought that the mansion would make a lovely sorority house. Young Ez Dixon thought that there might be hidden money in the house, and did not want the girls to buy. So they set out to prevent the girls from buying it by frightening them. From there on it was a hilarious mystery which proved delightful entertainment for those present.

Seniors in the cast were: "Ez Dixon," Albert Bair; "Plunkly Smith," LeRoy Harner; "Peg Howard," Oneida Snyder; "Mrs. Whipple," Louise Staub; "Libby Green," Dorothy Knight; "Vicky Green," Marion Bankert; "Lanny Harper," Robert Scholl; "Patricia Young," Shirley Spangler; "Ellen Mitchell," Madeline Plunkert; and "Charlie," Charles Hall.

List 29 Gridders for '47

The Littlestown Board of Education met in monthly session Monday evening with all members present. The report of Paul E. King, principal of schools, revealed that the high school soccer team had ended the season as champions of the Adams County Scholastic Soccer league. Mr. King also reported that 29 boys to date, in the ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades had secured written permission from their parents to play football next fall. The board decided to wait until more are signed up before making an official change from soccer to football as the fall sport. Mr. King reported that the pupils, during the past month, had contributed to the Junior Red Cross, Annie Warner hospital, and clothing for relief of children in the United States and Europe. The attendance thus far was reported as exceptionally good. The board held a reorganization, following the regular meeting, with Mr. King acting as chairman. The following were elected: President, Henry E. Waltman; vice president, Richard A. Little; secretary, Luther W. Ritter; Treasurer, Lloyd E. Crouse. The fifth member is Carl W. Baumgardner.

Murray has called on the unions to stand together against "the ferocious attack now being made upon them."

Await Truman Message
In Deadlock Over Miners

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—With John L. Lewis' contempt conviction already in the hands of the Supreme Court, the government turned to President Truman today for the next move to crush the 17-day-old coal strike.

White House aides hinted broadly that when the Chief Executive goes on the radio Sunday night (9:30 p. m., EST), he will make it clear to the nation that—in the words of one of his cabinet officers—"there will be no turning back in this fight."

On the union side, President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen pledged participation in a united-front conference of labor leaders urged by CIO President, Philip Murray to resist the legal drive on the United Mine Workers.

Murray has called on the unions to stand together against "the ferocious attack now being made upon them."

The Supreme Court scheduled for discussion and possible decision today whether it will take immediate

Ex-Soldier Seeks Gettysburg Buddy

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster has received a letter from an ex-soldier living in Michigan who is seeking the whereabouts of a former "buddy" he says lives in or near Gettysburg. The letter, turned over to The Gettysburg Times, is as follows:

"Dear Sir: Could you give me the address of Paul M. Gutshall, who lives somewhere in Gettysburg? He and I were in the service together, but I misplaced his address, and would like to get in contact with him. This would be appreciated very much if you could send me his address. . . . George A. Brancheau, Jr., 85 W. Cleotie street, River Rouge 18, Michigan."

Mr. Gutshall may have the letter by calling at the Times office.

REORGANIZATION
PATROL COMING

A reorganization of the over-all set-up of the Gettysburg safety patrol is to be effected in the near future it was learned following a meeting of Borough Officer Albert Wolford with Paul R. Mehring, principal of the Lincoln school; Robert Codori, representing the parochial school, and Lloyd Hartman, principal of the Meade school. The session was held at the home of Mr. Mehring.

Because the work of handling the 95 safety patrolmen, arranging for weekly meetings at which violations are reported by the student patrol at a "court" and otherwise handling the organization is proving too much for one man to handle, Wolford, who has been advisor since establishment of this year's patrol, and the school representatives discussed the possibility of making some other arrangement for continuing the patrol work.

One suggestion made at the meeting was that one person in each of the schools having the safety patrol be appointed to head the patrol operating from that school and hold weekly meetings with the student patrolmen from his school. In addition a Gettysburg advisor would be named who would supervise the activities in the various schools and provide for monthly meetings of all patrolmen.

Have "Court" Trials

At their weekly meetings so far the patrolmen from all schools have been meeting at the Lincoln school on Saturday mornings under the direction of Officer Wolford. At those sessions the student safety patrol sets up a court complete with judge, district attorney, defense attorneys, jury and the like. Cases of violations by students are brought before the court.

It was decided to determine whether the courts could be held in the various schools by the patrolmen from each particular school and whether the principals of the schools would be willing to back up the findings of the court by imposing some appropriate sentence on the offenders found guilty of violating the safety code.

A meeting of the school patrol was held this morning at the Lincoln school. Further meetings are to be held probably within the next week by schoolmen and the borough police, who established the patrol this year, in establishing the new top organization of the patrol.

The directors were given monthly reports of officers and heard that the mailed appeals for new and renewal memberships brought in 461 adult membership, 80 junior memberships, 35 group memberships and eight new life members with memberships totaling 582. The sum received through those enrollments totals $983.50. Mrs. Lester O. Johnson, co-chairman of the membership committee, reported. The committee is launching a door-to-door campaign in many county communities.

Open New Book Station

Miss Oiler's report as librarian showed 11,512 book and magazine loans during last month for a total of 58,412 for the first 11 months. The bookmobile has traveled 3,254 miles serving 110 branches, stations and schools. The most recent book station opened is at Johns' store in Mummaburg, Miss Oiler said with plans for additional stations at Greenstone and in the northern end of the county.

"Children's books still make up the bulk of the reading but there is a steadily growing demand for more adult books as we increase our adult book stations," Miss Oiler said.

J. Willis Beidler, presented his reports as treasurer and as chairman of the budget committee. The board adopted a proposed budget anticipating receipts of $8,600 with (Please Turn to Page 2)

RESCUE YOUTHS FROM ISLE IN SUSQUEHANNA

Middletown, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—Two teen-aged youths, marooned for five days on a tiny ice-bound island in the Susquehanna river, were busy catching up on "home cookin'" today.

Rescued yesterday from their lonely vigil on Kohr's island where they had been trapped by ice floes, the boys—Galen Reed, 19, and Earl Kreiser, 17, both of Royalton, Pa.—appeared none the worse for their experience.

Efforts to rescue the boys succeeded after boatmen tediously inched their way through 700 yards of treacherous ice-choked water.

Caught By Ice "Sure, were all right," Reed told his anxious family as he clambered ashore, with Kreiser quickly adding, "but we're ready for something hot to eat and some cigarettes!"

The boys said they suffered only slight exposure for they had taken an oil stove and a supply of provisions, including canned soup, for the trip.

They had made their way to the island in two boats Sunday on a treacherous expedition. They returned to their home Monday and then went back intending to stay overnight and return Tuesday morning.

After spending the night in a shack on the island, the boys found to their dismay the next morning that the river had become filled with large ice cakes, capable of smashing their small wooden boats to splinters.

Use Steel Boat The next few days were dreary ones, they told rescuers, with the days spent straining their eyes for aid from shore and the nights huddled around the little oil stove in the draughty shack.

Meanwhile, their parents, alarmed at the boys' failure to return, began rescue efforts which failed because of the heavy ice floes. They finally notified the state police and intensive rescue efforts were set in motion.

The ice field was finally breached with the aid of a 16-foot motor-powered steel boat brought from Mt. Gretna by Charles Sohon.

SURVEY SHOWS

(Continued from Page 1) several years of high prices of farm products and the shortage of and increased demand for housing by non-farmers," Mr. Paddock said.

"Many town residents are buying farms near town merely as a place to live and are willing to pay a higher price than could be justified on an income producing basis. Some of these farms are being operated part time by the new owner or are on a share basis with a neighbor.

Realtors Optimistic "As a temporary expedient this method is satisfactory but experience has shown that it seldom leads to efficient production or provides for conservation of resources, both of which factors are increasing in importance on all farms."

What will be the result of the expected crash in farm prices when it comes was a question most persons connected with farm sales did not care to answer today, although itors are optimistic. If economist's predictions of a decline in the sale value of farm crops comes true the price of farms will probably drop.

The survey, based on a sample of farm transfers in the county, discloses that the condition of 1920 when many farms were lost due to inability of the owners to keep up on mortgage payments could be repeated if farm prices and food prices take as sharp a dip as they did in the "recession" after World War I.

Table of Prices A table of some of the farm sales is given showing the cost of the farm at purchase this year, the amount of mortgages on the properties and the cost of the property and year of previous sale. In most instances where the mortgage equals the price of the farm, the farm was bought by a returned veteran of World War II.

The list follows:

1946	Previous Sale	Price	Mtge.	Price	Year
17,000	14,000	14,500	1945

Matter of Speculation

It's all very well to sit outside Spain in the robes of a prophet and guess what sort of government Spaniards want. But I was in that country early this year and don't believe there is any living person, in Spain or outside it, who knows how the people would vote in a free plebiscite. They might want a return of their monarchy, or they might declare for a Republic. It's a matter of pure speculation, because they haven't had a free election in more than a decade.

Of one thing your correspondent is very certain: the people of Spain don't want any more civil war. The horrors of the last one are too fresh in most minds. And it's very obvious that unless the United Nations handle this highly complicated situation very carefully, civil war might be precipitated.

The United States already has noted this danger of civil strife officially and has taken a stand against any UN operation—which might produce such a catastrophe. Britain and most of the western democracies take a similar view. The French government, acting under very strong Communist influence, is for strong-arm tactics in getting rid of Franco.

While we are on the topic of civil war it's well to note that civil war in Spain—or civil war in Greece, such as now is developing—could very easily produce another world conflict. Greece maintains that the left wing revolt within her borders is being inspired from without, which makes the situation doubly delicate, because she herself is backed by Britain and her Balkan neighbors are in the Russian fold. Civil war in Spain could produce an even more menacing position.

AT BANKERS' MEETING

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank here and of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association, presided today at the meeting of the council of administration of the PBA held at Philadelphia. Friday afternoon he spoke on "Trends in Trust Banking" at a meeting of the Trust Section of the PBA held at the Penn Harris hotel, Harrisburg.

State Policeman James Treas, who investigated, charged the one driver, Harry Owen Groseclose, Abingdon R. 1, Va., with following too closely. He paid a fine and costs before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore. A charge of failing to signal will be laid against the other driver, Mrs. Laura Wilson Gallagher, Cashtown, before a local justice.

Officer Treas said the accident occurred when Mrs. Gallagher was driving west on the Lincoln highway and came to a section of the road where James E. Boyd, York, had pulled to the side of the highway after having a flat tire. About one foot of the Boyd car was still on the highway.

Mrs. Gallagher saw the parked Boyd car and also noticed a truck coming in the opposite direction. Not believing she had room to pass between the parked vehicle and the truck she decided to stop her car, she told police. When she stopped, Groseclose, who was following her car with a truck tractor and trailer, also attempted to stop, but failed, smashing into the rear of the Gallagher vehicle. The Gallagher car then hit the fender of the Boyd car. Total damage was $25. No one was injured.

SEE DANGER OF CIVIL WAR IN SPAIN AGAIN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The arguments in the United Nations political committee over how to deal with the Spanish regime have been hot, and they have been frank about Franco, but while the consensus is that the generalissimo's government must go, there is no unanimity about how to get rid of it.

The debates have ranged a wide field, but so far as I have noted nobody has ventured to put his finger on the basic cause of the differences among the UN members. Yet that cause is as plain as my Aberdeen terrier's long nose.

UN VOTE ON SITE MONDAY

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—The United Nations site committee will vote Monday on the location of U. N.'s permanent home, with the United States now lined up with great Britain and Russia in favor of the eastern seaboard.

The American delegation came out emphatically yesterday for an Atlantic coast site, as opposed to San Francisco.

"We must have regard for the countries who will always be the main support for the United Nations," Sen. Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, told the committee. "Remoteness from Europe would be the cause of ever-diminishing effort and interest in this organization."

The American announcement was made after President Truman and his cabinet met in Washington. Any commitment as to what specific eastern city the U. S. delegation favored was left for the future.

Great Britain supports Philadelphia and the Russians recently switched to that city from New York as the USSR's choice.

Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco, who is in New York in connection with his city's bid for the U. N. site, expressed resentment, "as a private citizen," at "the unkind reflections of the USSR delegate on San Francisco's proffered hospitality to the United Nations."

APPLE BUYING CLOSES DEC. 15

Announcement has been made by Appalachian Apple Service that they have received advice from the British Food Mission in Washington that they will close their offer to purchase apples from this area for export to Britain on December 15.

Original conditions noted that up to two million bushels of apples would be bought from local growers for use in the United Kingdom. Seven shiploads have already sailed and additional sailings through the end of February have been arranged.

The entire movement has been handled by the Eastern Apple Growers Export Corporation in New York city, an agency originated especially to handle this movement of apples to Britain.

In announcing the December 15 termination of the offer it was stated that growers have until that date to submit their contracts. After December 15 acceptance of contracts will be conditional upon circumstances prevailing at that time.

LICHTENWALTER BEING SLATED

Harrisburg, Dec. 7 (AP)—Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter of Lehigh county was slated to get the Republican nomination for speaker of the state house of representatives at a caucus of GOP members today.

The selection, tantamount to election since Republicans will control the 1947 house by 170-38 was first on the program of the first Republican legislative gathering since the GOP carried the state last November 5 by a thumping 600,000 majority.

Lichtenwalter, who will succeed speaker Ira T. Fiss of Snyder county, was expected to be unopposed for the nomination. Fiss already has announced he will not be a candidate and favors Lichtenwalter's election.

An insurance agent from Center Valley in Lehigh county, Lichtenwalter has served two terms as majority floor leader in the lower branch and has been a member since 1939. His formal election as speaker will not occur until the next legislature convenes on January 7.

The GOP members, who gathered in a closed session (11 a.m.) also were expected to name Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk) to succeed Lichtenwalter as majority leader and Rep. Charles H. Brunner (R-Mont) as majority whip. Sorg was whip in the 1945 session while Brunner sponsored the 1945 clean streams law.

BILLIARD DEADLOCK

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two former champions and the present titlist were deadlocked for first place today as the world's pocket billiards championship tournament reached the halfway mark. Jimmy Caras, Wilmington, Del., and Irving Crane, Livonia, N. Y., the former champs, climbed into a three-way tie with Willie Mosconi, Barrington, N. J., after winning matches yesterday.

MAJOR - MINOR PARLEY TO END AT LOS ANGELES

By BOB MYERS

Los Angeles, Dec. 7 (AP)—Baseball's annual winter meeting comes to a close today with club owners of the two major leagues convening in joint session with Commissioner A. B. Chandler to wind up a week of business that ran pretty true to expectations.

The minor leagues concluded their formal sessions late yesterday, concurring after an exchange of notes with the majors on a new major-minor agreement effective for five years starting January 12, 1947.

Of particular interest on today's agenda was the resolution by the Pacific Coast league asking recognition as a major league. Most observers were confident the petition would get a gentle but firm thumbs-down reply.

All-Stars At Chicago

Further discussions were scheduled on the player pension plan, with the players' two representatives, Dixie Walker and Johnny Murphy, still on deck for conferences.

Both major circuits agreed that the Chicago Cubs will be the host club for the annual all-star game July 8, and left the lid off on the number of night games each club may play. Last season the National loop staged 137 arc-ball contests, the American 122. No club can bill a doubleheader immediately following a night game except during a late season log jam in the schedule.

Bonus and waiver rules were altered, the former reduced, the latter tightened.

Other Changes

At the minors' request, the majors reduced from $7,500 to $6,000 the amount they could pay an athlete as extra reward for signing a contract. The scale also will permit a triple-A club to pay as much as $4,800, with a $3,000 limit for double-A clubs, $2,500 for A, $1,500 for B, $1,200 for C and $800 for D and E clubs.

Majors were limited to two the number of times they can offer and then withdraw waivers on a player, and waiver lists, formerly unrestricted, were limited to one per day with no more than seven players on the list.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—The youngsters who were supposed to take over the golf game once the war was over were taking lessons today from a couple of veterans, both of the game and the war, as Miami's $10,000 open golf tournament entered the third round.

Out in front by two strokes with 131 was Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., who is all of 34 years old, while his hottest competitor was Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Texas, with 133, who also is about 34.

Melbourne, Saturday, Dec. 7 (AP)—Australia's John Bromwich trounced America's Ted Schroeder today in the singles finals of the Victorian tennis championships, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

A crowd of 12,000 saw the match. Schroeder, rushing the net virtually all the time, put up a brilliant struggle, but in the end the Aussie champion was too steady for him.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Arthur Ehlers, former president of the Interstate league, is the new chief of the Philadelphia Athletics' farm system.

Ehlers' appointment was announced by the A's office here yesterday, following a telephone call from President-Manager Connie Mack, who is attending the joint meeting of the major-minor leagues in Los Angeles.

St. Joseph's Meets Idaho U. Tonight

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Convention hall's 12th season as college basketball doubleheader host opens tonight when St. Joseph's college clashes with the rangy vandals from the University of Idaho and the Temple Owls square off against Muhlenberg college.

A crowd of 7,000 is expected to usher in the twin-bill season. St. Joseph's and Muhlenberg have already opened the 1946-47 basketball campaign with wins; Idaho has seen competition four times, but Temple is still untried.

The Hawks and Vandals both feature sharp-shooting and incessant running, but most of the fan interest is expected to be centered in the Temple-Muhlenberg battle.

The Mules, 67-47 victors over Moravian college, impressed Temple Coach Josh Cody. He said "they have the finest 'fast-break' I ever saw in college circles. x x x I can't think of a more difficult way to open a season than to play that outfit."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—British golf pros are wondering whether they can afford to send a Ryder cup team to the United States next summer, what with the high cost of living, currency restrictions and a treasury depleted by the war. . . . It really is something to wonder about. . . .

In pre-war days, it was possible to send a golf team abroad at a cost of about $1,000 per man. This year estimates obtained by the U. S. Golf association for next summer's Walker cup tour to England are around $1,250. For a nine-man team, (the usual number) the cost will run about $11,250, with some incidental expenses, as compared to the $9,380 it cost in 1938. . . . Ryder cup expenses probably would be about the same and none of it comes back at the gate. . . . Maybe the PGA should sign up George May to stage the matches, take the cash and to heck with dignity.

Middle West Best

Texas almost doubled its 1945 total by packing in 228,000 for six games. The middle west proved to be the most football-minded sector, drawing a total of 3,580,783.

Although Penn piled up the highest eastern total, Yale's increase from 186,007 in 1945 to 357,000 in 1946 was outstanding. Harvard sold out its stadium, seating 57,700, for the first time since 1937 in the Yale game and Cornell's gate soared to a new all-time high of 102,000 from a puny 33,800 last season.

Boston college, Navy, Penn State, Princeton and West Virginia also enjoyed a turnstile boom.

Charley Bachman Quits At Michigan

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 7 (AP)—Charley Bachman's 13-years' service as head football coach at Michigan State college was at an end today.

The Spartan mentor, object of considerable criticism during the past year as his eleven had an in-and-out season, resigned last night. Speculation concerning Bachman's successor immediately became a popular pastime among MSC followers with the names of former Cornell Coach Ed McKeever and Arizona's head coach Mike Casteele high on the list.

QUALIFY AS OFFICIALS

Jack R. Taylor, McKnightstown, and Francis X. Keffer, Littlestown, recently passed the basketball officials' examination and are now qualified to work as cage officials, according to an announcement by the PIAA.

'Big Train' Takes Turn For Worse

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Walter Johnson, the 59-year-old former American league fireballer who has been gravely ill in a Georgetown hospital since last April, took a "decided turn for the worse" early today.

The relapse was reported by officials of the hospital where the "Big Train" has been under treatment for a brain tumor. Johnson's physician, who left the hospital about midnight, confirmed the setback, but declined to elaborate.

Johnson, a right-hander with a blazing fireball, entered the big leagues in 1907 with the Washington Senators. Twenty-one years later and still with the Senators—Johnson hung up his glove with a record of 413 wins and 280 losses. The record included one no-hit, no-run game, pitched against Boston on July 1, 1920.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—The youngsters who were supposed to take over the golf game once the war was over were taking lessons today from a couple of veterans, both of the game and the war, as Miami's $10,000 open golf tournament entered the third round.

Today's Talk

BACK TO SIMPLE THINGS
It is heartening, as well as interesting, to read of the simple way that our forefathers lived. They did with little, but they did much! They had dreams ever before them. They did not mind hardship and sacrifice. They took life in its stride, without complaint. They were courageous and God-fearing.

Life wasn't so complicated in those early days. Simple things were enjoyed. Character was the great wealth then—and we look back upon this wealth with pride and admiration. These later days have changed many of the precious values of life, and many of those earlier valuations have been shoved backwards, unfortunately. Simple things do not have the broad meaning that they did then. Much fineness has been sacrificed to "Keep up with the Joneses."

The simple living and thinking of the average tiller of the soil are inspiring things. I like to talk to those folks. They have preserved so much that is enviable. They are lovers of the beauties in Nature, and they take pride in their simple ways and manners.

Thoreau's "Walden" should be read by us all, at least once a year, in order to get some of his simple rules of living into our own scheme of things, and to emulate many of his suggestions and his sound and wholesome philosophy of life. He was honest with himself, and so he could not be "false to any man." Thus it has been with so many writers and students of Nature. Edward Thomas, and W. H. Hudson, are two other examples of those who contributed so much to great living, because of their simple understanding, and mode of life.

During these days, when all seems so complicated and confusing, it would be a good thing for all of us to stop and think a little, and return to many of the simple ways of life, and of living—gaining enjoyment and peace of mind thereby.

How many a one who knew great wealth, has been suddenly removed to a former state of simple living, and who has come to realize—not too late—that therein, as a matter of fact, lie the true blessings of life. It isn't the much that gives the greatest benefit, but the genuine and the living!

DECEMBER SEVEN

This is enough, I think, to say, Remembering the tragic past: For arrogance, the final day; For evil cunning, this the last!

For smiles that vicious plotting hide,

For false betrayal of a friend, This day forever, and world-wide, In history will mark the end.

This day stripped cruelty of pride; Saw infamy's concluding score; And every free-born boy who died May sleep in peace forevermore.

Got a Rich Mixture?

If the carburetor is delivering too rich a mixture for the engine's good you need not be in the dark about it. A sure sign is the appearance of black smoke at the exhaust. Another is a marked tendency for the engine to roll when idling. This rolling is described as a sluggish action with the engine rotating as if with effort when it should run easily. It may gallop as if misfiring.

Excessive richness may have its origin in the air cleaner which may be clogged so as to cut down on the available air. An air-bath type of filter that is overfilled with oil, or accidentally filled with water, will overfeed the engine.

More Anti-Knock Coming

The basic patents on tetraethyl lead fluid having expired it is expected that other companies will be in the field with this type of octane booster in another year or so. Patents on use of the lead dope expire in 1947. One of the nation's largest chemical firms is already scheduled to produce this popular anti-knock agent in 1948. Others probably will enter the field. To date the proposition has been the joint ownership of a motor firm and an oil company which collaborated in its development. Right now a shortage of lead has caused a reduction in the quantity of anti-knock fluid available. Tomorrow's higher compression engines, however, will require all the anti-knock fluid that can be produced.

Have You Noticed

That ever since hydraulic brakes became universal fewer owners consider the occasional need for having the brake shoes' clearance taken up to compensate for wear on the lining?

That the load a truck is carrying has everything to do with its performance and thus with how it will take hills or go down them? Failure to note whether a truck is loaded or empty has fooled many a driver and caused many a serious blunder in trying to pass.

That if you shoot your lights on the high focus to remind the oncoming driver that he hasn't dimmed he is apt to get rebellious and just let you stay blinded?

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"One of the fallacies in car ownership is to think it makes no difference what kind of oil you use or how you operate the car when the engine needs a ring job and you are 'buying oil instead of repairs because it's cheaper.' This just means overlooking an excellent chance to cut down on oil consumption.

"First, watch the grade of oil. It should not be too heavy, but this doesn't mean that you should take anything that's on hand. Next, comes quality. I would still use the best oil I could buy. Then there is the opportunity to free up the rings a bit by using some of a hot enough type to burn off any oil that gets on their points. If a plug doesn't fire it will allow a lot of oil to suck up into its cylinder."

Without Benefit of Spark

When K. L. McB. switched off the ignition after a fairly short run and found the engine continued to run he was considerably surprised, since the motor temperature gauge failed to show any abnormal reading. At the service station they explained that this indicated a heavy accumulation of carbon. Heated to incandescence this carbon acted as a spark plug to fire the mixture after ignition was switched off. Checking back it was found that the engine fouled up prematurely because of the owner's habit of always waiting until late in the evening to start the motor and put the car away for the night. These late starts allowed raw gasoline to wash oil from the cylinder walls, wearing them abnormally and turning the engine into an oil pumper.

Saying It Over Again

One of my good friends who bears with me by reading these weekly remarks on motoring has asked me to repeat my warning to sound the horn whenever overtaking another car, even where it is quite obvious that the driver ahead should know what is happening. So here goes.

This policy is based on the fact that in driving you cannot afford to take any chances. The other driver may be day dreaming. He may be in a bad mood, cutting over to your side of the road just because he resents your not being skillful enough to use the horn where needed. You don't have to sound like a fire engine. Just give a short, polite note of warning. Do this just as you are about to pass, not way back where you may give the impression of wanting to boss the road.

Watch That Air Cleaner

It is a smart trick to cover the air cleaner with a cloth when washing the car. Don't use an air gun on the wire mesh of an air cleaner when cleaning it because this may damage the mesh by separating it in spots. Don't use force to attach the air cleaner for this may warp (Please Turn to Page 5)

SANTA and the BOY KING

BY LUCRECE HUDGINS

THE KING PICKED UP THE BASKET AND CARRIED IT OUT.

Chapter 2
THE KING ESCAPES

When James, the boy King, decided to run away from the palace, he did not think he would be doing wrong. "I shall stay away only a few hours," he solemnly planned. "And no one need ever know I have gone."

He made straight for the palace kitchens as the Royal Cook was his real friend and frequently gave him a doughnut or apple tart when he most needed it. He thought the cook might now be able to advise him how to get outside the palace walls.

But when he got to the kitchen he found the utmost confusion. Some farmers from outside the walls were delivering great baskets of vegetables for the royal meals.

"Put the potatoes here, the beets there, the cabbages on this, the string beans under that," chattered the cook as he bustled madly about directing the proceedings.

The King tried to catch his eye but there was not a chance as the cook saw him but thought he was merely another farmer.

"Move! Move out of the way for pity's sake!" he swore and he gave the King a little shove for indeed he was in the way.

As the King fell back he stumbled over a large covered basket which had been emptied of pumpkins. Unnoticed, the King picked up the basket, and carried it out the door. There stood the farmers' wagon. The boy leaped in, placed his basket far in the back and then climbed inside the basket and drew down the lid.

In a short while, the farmers followed him from the kitchen. They tossed other empty baskets into the wagon before they, too, climbed in and away the wagon rumbled.

The little King, trembling with excitement, heard the guards open each of the three gates and he knew that now, at last, he was outside the palace where he had been a prisoner all his life.

On and on rumbled the wagon, bouncing the King about in his basket until he was sure there was not a place on his body which had not been made black and blue. At last the rumbling stopped and the farmers got out. The boy King pushed open the lid of his basket and peeped out.

What a strange new world! The wagon was in a cobbled street and the farmers were just disappearing in a shop where refreshments were to be had. James climbed out of his basket and stared at the shops and the people who filled the little street.

Suddenly two small boys popped up beside the wagon. "Give us a ride!" they begged.

"Oh, no," replied James. "The

MAKE PROGRESS ON SAFE DRIVING

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—Emphasis on safe driving is making encouraging progress in Pennsylvania, with behind-the-wheel instructions now a part of the curriculum in many of the Commonwealth's public schools.

Driver education courses have been established in 20 school systems, Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, announced, with those in Allentown, Bradford, Indiana, Lower Merion, Oil City, Radnor and Lancaster including actual driving as well as classroom work.

"Some of these schools use their own cars and others have been provided with cars through the courtesy of local agencies or groups," Dr. Haas said.

Bradford high school was the pioneer in the field, starting in 1937.

Meanwhile, the State Department of Revenue has announced an all-time record of motor vehicle operator licenses in Pennsylvania.

The department said it has placed 3,400,000 applications for license renewal in the mail. The present license period expires at midnight, January 31, 1947.

panion, Robert Platt, 23, also of Lafayette.

State police reported Hubner driving eastward, lost control of the truck as he neared the toll house. Platt was taken to the Carlisle hospital with a fractured shoulder and other minor injuries.

the air intake of the carburetor and cause the choke valve to warp. In below freezing weather use SAE 20W oil in the cleaner, if it is the oil-bath type.

Idea For An Emergency

Caught on the open road late at night and miles from a town a friend of mine refused to be dismayed when the lights went out. He waited for another car, then followed it to the next town.

When the right rear wheel is close to the curb and you must back up to get out of a parking space the first thing to do is to cut the rear of the right front wheel toward the curbing and then back. As soon as the right front wheel strikes the curb, pull ahead just a bit and straighten out the wheel. Then when you back up the rear wheel won't go any closer to the curb. In most cases it will move away from it.

Most motorists know by this time that the proper fit of a front wheel bearing calls for free rotation of the wheels but without any shake. That is, if you grasp a jacked-up front wheel and take hold of it at the top and at the bottom you should not be able to detect any looseness. In doing this, however, it is quite possible to confuse such looseness with that in the king pins and bushings. To eliminate that possibility the trick is to drive a wooden wedge between the knuckle and support before trying the wheel for shake. Be sure to remove the wedges before using the car.

Q. While driving along the engine will suddenly backfire and kick the choke wire on the dash. It will sometimes push the choke button out as far as an inch. What's wrong? J. G.

A. Well, to start with the pressure of the backfire simply moves the choke valve to a closed position and that, in turn, pushes the manual control button out. The backfire itself may be due to incorrectly spaced spark plug points, a warped or sticky intake valve, or an excessively lean mixture.

Q. I am having quite a bit of trouble with oil getting into my radiator. Where can it be coming from?

J. E. G.

A. Check for a leaky cylinder head gasket. If the gasket leaks but not because it is cracked or defective, then there's a good chance that the cylinder head is warped slightly.

Q. There seems to be considerable oil leaking from around the clutch of my car. The engine was rebuilt recently. Before that I never noticed this condition. Could the oil be coming from the transmission? N. T. H.

A. This is a clear case of oil passing the rear main engine bearing. Either this bearing is worn or its oil retainer needs replacing.

Q. The automatic choke on my car is giving me a lot of trouble. I have tried several adjustments but nothing seems to make any difference. The engine starts properly but loads up and won't run right until it is warmed up. W. J. R.

A. Clean out the heat control tube from the manifold to the choke thermostatic coil. Carbon in this tube is making the choke slow in opening up.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 154 Fern street, Hartford, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply.

COMMUNISTS
NOW FIGHTING
IN FOUR AREAS

J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The shooting has begun in Iran, the third area in which Communist forces are now fighting established governments.

While Russia makes concessions across the peace table at Lake Success—the latest one being her agreement to eliminate the use of the veto in establishing international trusteeships over occupied or dependent areas—the world Communist revolution spreads.

Greece has charged before the U. N. that the Russian-dominated areas of Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria are contributing substantial support to insurrectionists within her borders.

Get Russian Support
Eddy Gilmore, AP correspondent in Moscow, reports that Russia gives full support to Azerbaijan in its battle with the Iranian central government.

The Greeks give us one picture of how these things go in 1946, as compared with former days in Spain and Europe when fifth columnists went into open action only in conjunction with regular military activities.

They say that groups of men are organized, trained and armed in foreign territory and sent in through the connivance of frontier guards in neighboring countries, and that these countries receive Greece's subversive elements and encourage their activities.

Five Per Cent Enough
In Azerbaijan a Russian-sponsored provincial government was set up by a Russian-sponsored political party during Russian occupation and an attempt has been made, covered by some show of negotiation, to withdraw this area almost entirely from Tehran's control. If this withdrawal is not prevented, and it results ultimately in a joining of the area with Russian Azerbaijan, is it aggression? If the forces involved are so small, and the dispute confined to one little area, and the British could not conceivably be expected to fight to prevent it, is it a threat to peace and therefore subject to intervention by the United Nations?

Eyewitnesses to what has happened in the Balkans say that, with their skilled and militant organization, a five per cent minority is all the Communists need to take over a country. Is it the duty of the United Nations to cut across false fronts and prevent such minorities from carrying the unorganized majorities along roads which they do not wish to travel?

Unless the United Nations can find the answer in such cases, can establish the point where internal developments become of legitimate international concern, all the formulas of Lake Success won't help anybody. If the British in Greece or Iraq, or the Americans in China, are ever forced to go into action to protect their positions, the jig will be up.

FIRE AT RESORT
Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP)—A general alarm fire Friday completely destroyed the famous Atlantic City Tuna club, for many years a resort landmark here. All fire apparatus in the city was on the scene, and the flames still were burning at 11 a. m. No injuries were reported.

State Will Stock 70,000 Rabbits

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—The State Game Commission pondered today the problem of getting 70,000 Missouri rabbits into Pennsylvania for stocking purposes before heavy snows begin.

Ordered several months ago, the cottontails were scheduled to arrive during the present month for release before Christmas, but the commission reports the freight embargo has upset these plans.

Complicating the picture is the need for releasing the rabbits before heavy snows begin if they are to survive. The commission said some shippers are trucking their rabbits into the state, but added that only a "pitifully small" number could be delivered by this method.

Buster Crabbe, Al "Fuzzy" St. John

MONDAY AND TUESDAY
One of the most powerful and suspense-packed pictures ever filmed makes a return to the Majestic screen with the showing of "Rage in Heaven," co-starring Ingrid Bergman and Robert Montgomery.

This picture, adapted from the novel by James Hilton, is memorable as being the most thrilling "perfect crime" story ever brought to the screen.

Montgomery plays a handsome, intelligent but emotionally unbalanced young man, who weds a beautiful girl only to drive himself to reckless acts by his belief that she loves his best friend. This is the background for his plotting a crime so flawless that it will send his friend to the hangman and rid him of a rival. In a climax that will have you on the edge of your seat, his cleverness proves his undoing, and in the picture's final scenes Hilton again proves himself a master of unusual twists of plot that sustain their excitement to the last fadeout.

WEDNESDAY
Belita and Barry Sullivan are co-starred in the melodramatic thriller "Suspense," the attraction at the Majestic Wednesday.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Van Johnson who plays the romantic lead in "No Leave, No Love," Teaming America's top screen hero, Van Johnson, with Keenan Wynn and Britain's most popular screen heroine, Pat Kirkwood, M-G-M's new musical romance, "No Leave, No Love," opens at the Majestic Theatre with a galaxy of stars, songs and laughs.

Additional explosive ingredients include two nationally famous dance bands—Guy Lombardo's and Xavier Cugat's. Combined, the result is a swiftly-moving, tune-filled romantic comedy packed with action, laughs, beauty and fun and aimed for a bull's-eye of entertainment.

Johnson is seen in the role of a young Marine hero who is willing to trade in a Congressional Medal for the love of his childhood sweetheart, but when he swaps his medal and loses his sweetheart his troubles begin.

MICROTOME AND MICROSCOPE AID WORK OF SCIENCE

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (AP)—A microtome that permits scientists to see things 200,000 times their normal size and a machine that slices unbelievably thin pieces of almost anything at the rate of 60,000 per minute are teaming up in a new attack on disease.

The 300 members of the Electron Microscope Society of America and the American Society for X-ray and Electron Diffraction, in the final day of a three-day joint meeting, today discussed achievements of these machines in the last year.

One is the electron microscope, which not only magnifies bacteria, cells and other materials up to 20,000 times but also permits photographic enlargement of 200,000 times without distortion. Ordinary light microscopes stop at a magnification of around 1,000.

Invisible Silvers
The other invention, brought into being to serve the electron microscope, is the "cyclone knife" microtome, which cuts cuts invisible silvers of material for study under the super-lens.

Dr. James Hillier, now a research scientist for the Radio Corporation of America at its Princeton, N. J., laboratories, was only 22 when he invented the electron microscope in 1937. He built his first commercial model in 1940, in collaboration with another RCA worker, Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin.

They were a little ahead of their time, however; the technique of preparing materials for use in such an instrument had not kept pace with them. The lack hindered use of the new equipment and impaired the value of results.

Then Dr. Harold G. O'Brien of Beaver, Pa., a research fellow at the University of Pittsburgh, invented the microtome (Micro, small; tome, section) in 1943.

The first model, with a knife mounted on a drum, did 10,000 revolutions a minute. The latest one, of which only four are in existence, travels at the rate of 60,000 r.p.m. and slices tissues imbedded in paraffin, or frozen. It will slice plastics or even metals.

Speakers described the machines as new weapons in the hands of medicine in its fight against disease, including cancer, and as one step nearer man's eventual conquest of the universe in which he lives.

GERMANY'S FATE BEING DEBATED AT BIG 4 TABLE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Tackling at last the central issue in restoring peace to Europe, the Big-Four Foreign Ministers gathered today at their well-worn conference table to begin debating the fate of beaten Germany.

Secretary of State Byrnes intended also to urge, at this or some imminent session, a start on a peace settlement for Austria which Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov thus far has refused to discuss. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was reported ready to support the Byrnes move. Both Byrnes and Bevin have draft treaties for Austria ready to submit to the Ministers' Council if Molotov will agree.

Diplomats privately expressed hope that experience gained in writing treaties for Italy, the Balkan states and Finland—all now virtually finished—would speed the conferences on Germany and, if possible, Austria. British and American officials were especially hopeful that the attitude of compromise which has characterized Molotov's recent approach to disputes over the satellite treaties would continue into the work on Germany.

Today's meeting was called for 10:30 a. m., EST, instead of the customary 4 p. m. so that Bevin might go to Washington this afternoon. He has a date with President Truman at 11 a. m. tomorrow and will return to New York Monday morning.

Work on the satellite treaties, meanwhile, tapered off to technical questions of language. Last night's session cleaned up several relatively minor points.

Gets War Dept. Letter
Mrs. Carrie Fuss Long has received a letter from the War Department giving her information regarding the death of her son, Staff Sergeant Wilbur R. Long, which is as follows: "I sympathize with you in your desire for further details regarding the status of your son. The information that is available in the War Department reveals that Sergeant Long was one of nine crew members of a B-17 type aircraft which left its base in the New Hebrides on the late afternoon of 14th of September, 1942, in search of Japanese naval shipping, reported to be north of these islands. The plane was unable to find its ob-

Miners Condemn Injunction Rule

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—"Government by injunction" was condemned in a resolution by District 2 of the AFL-United Mine Workers at a conference here yesterday.

The group reaffirms confidence in the union leadership and named four representatives to the National Wage Scale Committee to take part in future contract talks.

They were Joseph Canizzaro, of Clune, Indiana county; John Phippen, of Windber; Steve Denardo, of Adrian, Jefferson county, and J. A. Kopnicky of Cambria county.

Another resolution decried newspaper editors, columnists and writers "who have been giving out false propaganda against the United Mine Workers."

"At the time your son was reported missing in action on 14th of September 1942, the circumstances warranted some hope for his survival. After the lapse of many months, however, these circumstances lost their significance when considered with all other relevant factors bearing on his status. Accordingly, an official finding of death was issued in his case, pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, setting the presumptive date of death as 14th of September 1943.

"It may be of some comfort to you to know the names and addresses of the persons named as emergency addressees by the members of your son's crew, and a list is enclosed, numbering eight.

"My deepest sympathy is with you in the sorrow you have been called upon to bear in the loss of your son. Sincerely yours, Edward F. Witsell, Major General."
